

A close-up, low-angle shot of an Ersa selective soldering system. The image shows several precision-engineered metal nozzles and components, likely part of a multi-head assembly line. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the metallic surfaces against a dark, blurred background of a factory floor.

Ersa Selective Soldering Systems

In a Class of its own!